New gym finished at Stuyvesant Town, Cooper Village

A new 5,700 square-foot fitness center has opened for residents of Stuyvesant Town and Peter Cooper Village. The fitness center is part of a makeover that had been promised by owner Tishman Speyer, which in 2006 bought the massive East Side property from MetLife for a record \$5.4 billion. The gym at 520 East 20th Street, replaced a D'agostino supermarket, was built in just six weeks by Aragon Construction and S.M. Berger Architecture P.C. TRD
